HODGSON IS CAPTAIN

Falls Church Man, Who Has Twice Made All South Atlantic Team, Leads Techs.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BLACKSBURG, VA., June 5.—James Branch Bogck, of Georgetown University, will coach the V. P. I. football team this fall. E. R. Hodgson, of Falls Church, Va., is captain of the team, and P. C. Stoneburner, of Harrisonburg, is manager. Bogck, who was a star on the Georgetown varsity for four years, and captain of the team for one year, also coached the winning team at the University of Georgia last season, and will act as director of athletics here next season, succeeding Gus Brown, of Princeton, who goes to a similar position at Colgate. Hodgson, the captain, is also an old Georgetown man, all South Atlantic two seasons, and has played with the Techs for two years. Stoneburner caught on the baseball nine in the season just ended.

The schedule of games is shorter than usual, and only two games will be played with teams in Virginia that have been rivals of the Techs in other years. Neither is there a game with the Navy, but V. P. I. and Princeton will meet at Princeton, October 13. The Thanksgiving game this year is with North Carolina A. and M. at Norfolk. Two open dates remain and these will be filled with strong teams either in Virginia or the South. The schedule:

- October 24—Clemson College, at Blacksburg.
- October 27th—Open.
- October 13th—Princeton, at Princeton.
- October 18th—Open.
- October 22nd—Richmond College, at Richmond.
- October 23rd—Washington and Lee, at Lynchburg.
- November 6th—North Carolina University, at Richmond.
- November 12th—George Washington, at Washington.
- November 20th—Maryville College, at Blacksburg.
- November 25th—North Carolina A. & M., at Norfolk. (Thanksgiving game.)

Sporting Queries

Sporting Editor Times-Dispatch:—Sir,—Will you please answer the following questions in your Sunday paper?
(1) Where a batter bunts the third strike should the put-out be credited to the catcher?
(2) Should a sacrifice fly be distinguished in the summary from a sacrifice hit?
(3) Yes. Rules 85, section 6, covers this point fully.
(4) Yes. See rule 85, section 4.

Sporting Editor Times-Dispatch:—Sir,—Please tell me in your Sunday paper when Danville and Richmond play in Richmond again. A FAN.
Roanoke, Va.
Danville plays Richmond in Richmond on July 5, A. M. and P. M.

Sporting Editor Times-Dispatch:—Sir,—How many bases has Wagner of Pittsburgh stolen this season up to and including June 2? How many has Smith, of Richmond, stolen in the same time?
C. F. B.
Richmond.
Up to and including June 2, Wagner had stolen eighteen bases in the thirty-eight games played. In the same time, Smith had stolen nine bases, but he had played in only thirty-one games, seven less than Wagner had taken part in.

O. C. Hase—Have no record of Stafford while playing with Wilmington, N. C. Stafford hit a home run at the old Main Street Park while playing with Petersburg in the old Virginia League.

G. H. H.—The question in our query does not arise. One game was played, Richmond won, and the bet is off.

Comfortable these days or are you "transpiring"?
Got a cool Serge or a Homespun Suit? No!

We've plenty of them—your size, too, and they cost only $15, $18, or $25.

There's an ocean of comfort in every one of them—and, then, think how much better you'd look.

Worsteds or light Chevots, if you prefer.

Then we've other Summer Comforters in Straw Hats, $1.00 to $6.00.

Soft, breezy Shirts, 50c up to $1.50 and cool—very cool Underwear, 50c up.

Why sweater when all this Summer Comfort is so easy to procure and prices are so easy, too?

Some Scorers Fail to Follow New Rules on Third Bunt Strike and Sacrifice Fly

Elsewhere in this paper the sporting editor of The Times-Dispatch answers questions from a fan as to whether or not in the summary of a game a sacrifice fly should be distinguished from a sacrifice hit, and as to the scoring of the putout where a batter is declared out on third bunt strike. For the benefit of other fans and some sporting writers in other cities who are not familiar with the scoring rules, the following extracts from the rules are reproduced:
Rule 85, section 6.—Where a batsman is given out by the umpire for a foul strike, or falls to bat in proper order, or is declared out on third bunt strike, the putout shall be scored to the catcher.
Rule 86 (the summary).—The summary shall contain:
Section 2.—The number of sacrifice hits, if any, made by each player.
Section 4.—The number of sacrifice flies, if any, made by each player.

CLUSTER SPRINGS ACADEMY CLOSSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Team Won Seven of Eleven Games Played and Has Average of .637.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CLUSTER SPRINGS, VA., June 5.—The baseball season at Cluster Springs has been one of success. The academy team met Scottsburg High School, South Boston High School, Bethel Hill High School, Warren Training School in two games, Virginia Christian College in two games, Hog Mountain Academy in two games and Randolph Macon Academy and Richmond Academy.

These eleven games Cluster Springs Academy won seven, thus making a percentage of .637 of games played. On the whole the team played a consistent, steady game and batted well for much of last season. At Belmont Park on May 23 Sir Wooster won the Whitney Memorial, distance about 2 1/2 miles, one of the feature events, in 8:32, and had no trouble in beating Kentucky Hen and Grandpa. Over the same course on Monday last Sir Wooster finished first in the grand National Steeplechase Handicap, about 2 1/2 miles, in 8:31, with Grandpa second, and Kentucky Hen third. Grandpa, who finished third in the Whitney Memorial to Sir Wooster, was bred by A. S. Craven at Greenwood, Va., and at ten years of age is now one of the oldest steeplechasers in training. The chestnut gelding was sired by Imp. Grandmaster, dam Philpina, by Baden Baden, and both his sire and dam were formerly owned by Mr. Craven.

Young Blitzen won at Baltimore. Young Blitzen, the Virginia-bred steeplechaser, proving himself quite a useful sort of a horse this season for his owners, Louis and Alvin Garthright, of this city. The unsexed son of Blitzen and Molly Davis was second in two races at the Maryland Jockey Club meeting: won on the opening day of the Virginia Racing and Horse Show Association's meeting here, with second money in another event on the second day, while he was good enough to finish first in a hunter's steeplechase at the second day's racing of the United Hunt of Maryland, meeting at Pimlico, with Robert M. Taylor up. The Garthrights thought of entering Young Blitzen at the Country Club spring meeting in the Brookline, but change of plans prompted shipping the chestnut gelding to Baltimore instead, and wisely, too, it seems.

H. B. Throop, who for some years was identified with the horse interest in Virginia, first at Norfolk and later as auctioneer at the Southern Stock Yards in this city, is now located at the Sioux City Stock Yards, Iowa. With a light hand and easy sent Throop can train and drive a trotter or pacer, while he is also well informed on pedigrees and one of the best live stock auctioneers in the great Middle West. Throop will start the harness horses at Woodstock, Libertyville and Sioux City and other race meetings this summer, while the position of presiding judge has been tendered him at the South Dakota State Fair, at Huron, in September.

The Jamestown Jockey Club meeting at Norfolk, which began on May 13 and lasted sixteen days, was not a success either financially or in point of attendance, though held under sanction of the Jockey Club of New York by whom dates were granted. The meeting was backed by New York parties, who lost considerably on the first live stock being started, as over $10,000. As the meeting progressed purses were made smaller, while during the last week steeplechase events were eliminated entirely.

At the close of the affair, however, the management gave out that dates would be applied for again this fall, when the professional element numbering 2,000 or more, would be in evidence from New York, and their presence would likely insure the success of a meeting.

Landslide, the Virginia-bred gelding, owned and ridden by Richmond C. Rowley of Baltimore, was returned a winner at four miles on Monday last, the closing day of the meeting of the United Hunt of Maryland, meeting at Pimlico, with Robert M. Taylor up. The gelding ran the distance, with 165 pounds in 8:15. The race was really the feature of the day, and came in the hands of a horse that had never decided at the famous old Pimlico

BEHR, NEW JERSEY GOLF CHAMPION

Defeats Morgan L. K. Smith by Two Up and One to Play.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
NEW YORK, June 5.—It is a long link that has no turning. Max Behr won the New Jersey State golf championship to-day at the Mont Clair Golf Club by beating Morgan L. K. Smith, a fellow member of the Morris County Golf Club, by two up and one to play. In the final of the past two years Behr was runner up for the title to Jerome D. Travers, the same positions they had in the final of the last annual championship, but now he has a clear title to the New Jersey honor.

It was a drizzly and damp day, but fifty-odd appeared for the handicap and seemed to enjoy the sport as much as the many analysts. In every detail the tournament has been a success. President Keop, of the New Jersey Association, spoke in high terms of the Mont Clair Golf Club's course and arrangements. It is said that the next championship will be at the Essex County Country Club, at Orange.

Including the championship the medals for the match play divisions were widely distributed. The tally is: Morris County, 2; Baltimore, 2; and 1 each for Englewood, Yountville, Essex County Upper Mont Clair and Mont Clair.

The card for 35 holes:
Behr—5, 4, 5, 6, 7, 4, 4—42.

VARSITY TENNIS PLAYERS HERE

Will Meet Members of Hermitage Golf Club on Local Courts Friday and Saturday.

Three tennis matches between players of the University of Virginia and the Hermitage Golf Club will be played on the Hermitage courts next Friday and Saturday afternoons, the playing beginning at 4 o'clock each day. There will be one match in doubles and two matches in singles. T. M. Logan, Bruns and George B. Eager will represent Virginia, and John A. Coke, Jr., Fred G. Pollard, Joseph Mullen and Erskine Buford will represent the Hermitage Club. The club will play two more matches in singles, two in doubles, and as yet the players have not been decided upon for the different events.

Virginia won the match with Hermitage last year, but the local players won from the varsity in 1907. Chairman James Mullen, of the tennis committee, hopes to get one or both of the Virginia players to participate in the fifth annual Old Dominion tennis tournament, which is to be held during the week of June 21. A large number of entries have been received from the North and South, and the tournament promises to be one of the most successful the club has yet attempted.
